

The user flow I decided to build allows users to learn more about characters from books and films outside of the media. The user will land on the home page, then through the navigation bar, they will go to the books tab (tab name may be changed later). On the books page, they are greeted with a series of books and the featured book will allow the user to buy or learn more. Once they click the learn more button, they are brought to an in depth page about the book where they can read more about what its about, see reviews, watch behind the scenes videos of the film, and view character profiles. In the character profile section, the user can click on a profile where it opens to a modal where they can see everything about their favorite characters.